All the teenagers we work with are female and from poor to extremely poor 1-parent families. They are not expected to study but work and add to the family income. They are always at risk of getting pregnant which usually ends their education and chance to a better future.

The girls are not used to, or motivated by others to dream of what they might become. By offering them a broad range of options by passionate people, we get them in touch with their own interests and talents so they can make a better choice towards their future.
